

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)

What is Meatex?

Meatex is a premier platform dedicated to the meat and food processing industry, serving as a crucial link between buyers and sellers within the wholesale trade. Our online marketplace features up-to-date listings for a wide variety of wholesale products, including meat, poultry, fish, and other food items. We also provide recruitment services, job ads, classified ads, plus industry news and insights to keep our users informed.

Who can use Meatex?

Meatex is designed for wholesalers, manufacturers, suppliers, processors, and businesses in the meat and food industry. Whether you are looking to buy, sell, or advertise equipment or food products, Meatex provides a comprehensive platform to suit your needs. Please note that Meatex operates exclusively within the wholesale sector and is not open to the public.

What products are listed on Meatex?

We offer a diverse range of wholesale products tailored to the needs of the meat and food industry, including:

- Fresh and frozen meats (beef, pork, lamb, poultry, and more)
- Fish and seafood
- General food products suitable for food processing and retail
- Pet food products
- Meat processing and packaging equipment

Our platform connects buyers and sellers, providing reliable sourcing options across various product categories to meet the unique requirements of the wholesale sector.

What is the minimum order?

Meatex operates on a minimum order of one pallet. However, this may vary depending on the product and supplier. Each listing typically specifies its minimum order quantity or value to meet wholesale requirements. For listings marked Mixed pallets available we can offer pallets with a mix of different products. For specific queries about minimum order quantities, please contact our sales team.

How can I list my own products or equipment?

To list your products or equipment on Meatex, start by creating an account on our website. Once registered, go to the Meatex Marketplace section and follow the step-by-step instructions on submitting your listing. After submission, our team reviews each listing to ensure it meets quality and relevance standards before it goes live on the marketplace.
